

The Cross For
Nineteen Seventy-Two
Holy Cross High School
Flushing, New York

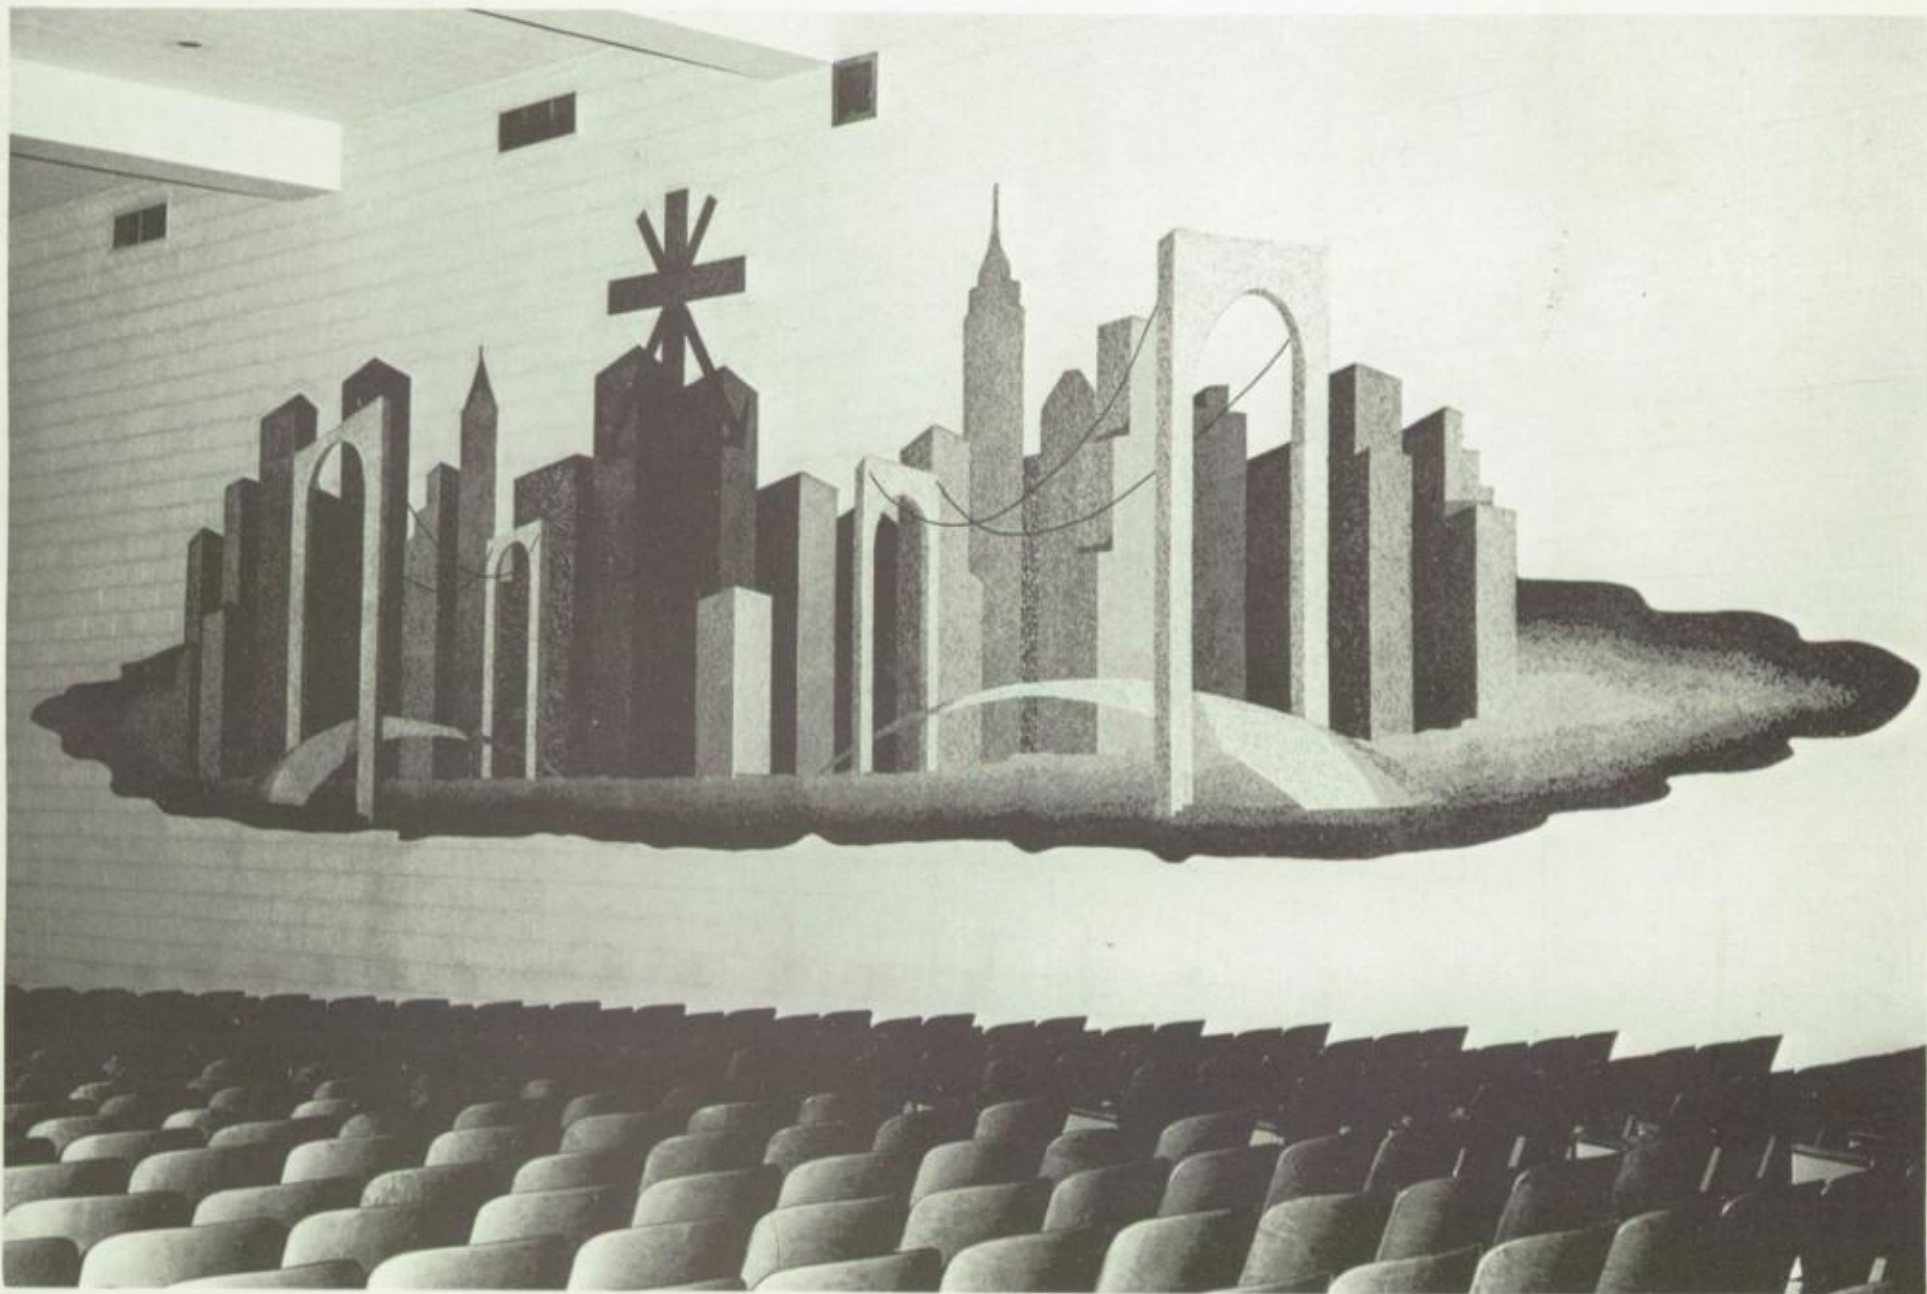

"It depends largely on teachers whether . . . civilization advances or retreats, gains in strength or languishes in idleness; whether it hastens on or, on the contrary, lingers in useless windings . . ."

THE HOLY CROSS MAN

The Holy Cross man strives to exemplify the Christian idea of life. He is primarily concerned with eternal values which alone give real meaning to Christian living. He uses the many means afforded by the Church, fulfilling his religious duties promptly and cheerfully. He receives the Sacraments regularly attends Mass faithfully, and engages in good works personally as well as in conjunction with parish groups. He acts on the belief that strong personal convictions with parish groups. He in religion will result in a clear mind, clean speech, and Christ-like behavior.

The Holy Cross man is intellectually honest; he is studious because he considers intellectual perfection an honor. He is not satisfied with anything short of his best accomplishments and seeks God in all he does.

Because he knows the body must serve the mind while both serve God, the Holy Cross man takes reasonable care of his body by physical exercise sufficient to maintain good health.

At the crossroads of America, in the very heart of one of the world's largest cities of skyscrapers, subways, industries, and ceaseless activity of some three million people, stands a pillar of light, Holy Cross High School. From under her arches emerge individuals trained to set right the paths that have been darkened and twisted through human imperfections. Not being satisfied with the wisdom that comes only from the Seat of all knowledge. Augmented even more by her religious training, her scope becomes all inclusive.

The '72 CROSS

The fourteenth annual CROSS has been presented to the student body through diligent effort on the part of the staff under the supervision of Brother Robert Brown, C.S.C. the moderator of the yearbook. Though the staff was small they worked hard in preparing this book for publication. With a sense of accomplishment, we trust you will enjoy this volume.

Perry Criscitelli
Editor-In-Chief

The book's artwork was done by Mr. Frank C. Jahn, a commercial artist, a personal friend of Brother Robert Brown and a devoted man to all the ideals of Holy Cross High School.

The bulk of the layout and planning was done by the editors, Perry Criscitelli and Domenick Tarantino. Members of the highly efficient typing staff included Brian Kane, Larry Dower, and Paul Vitrano.

The CROSS staff would like to thank Mr. Norman Kerker of Delma Studios, New York City, and also the photo editor of the CROSS, William Daly for all the time and effort put into getting pictures.

The publisher of the 1972 CROSS was the Hunter Publishing Company of Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Special thanks also to Mr. William T. O'Connor, representative of the Hunter Publishing Company, for his expert help in the production of this yearbook.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

We the class of nineteen hundred and seventy-two have broadened our perspectives in life and expanded our knowledge at Holy Cross.

Many of us leave in the feeling of accomplishment, and few leave with the feeling of bitterness. Nevertheless, all the seniors share an understanding which is instilled in us all our lives from the teachings we received at Holy Cross. By this we are rendered capable to look upon and judge our personal problems as well as problems concerning the world.

When we leave this greater institution of learning, we face a world of complexities. Here is where Holy Cross' teachings are put into play. Only then, we will realize how the school has added to a greater part of building our character.

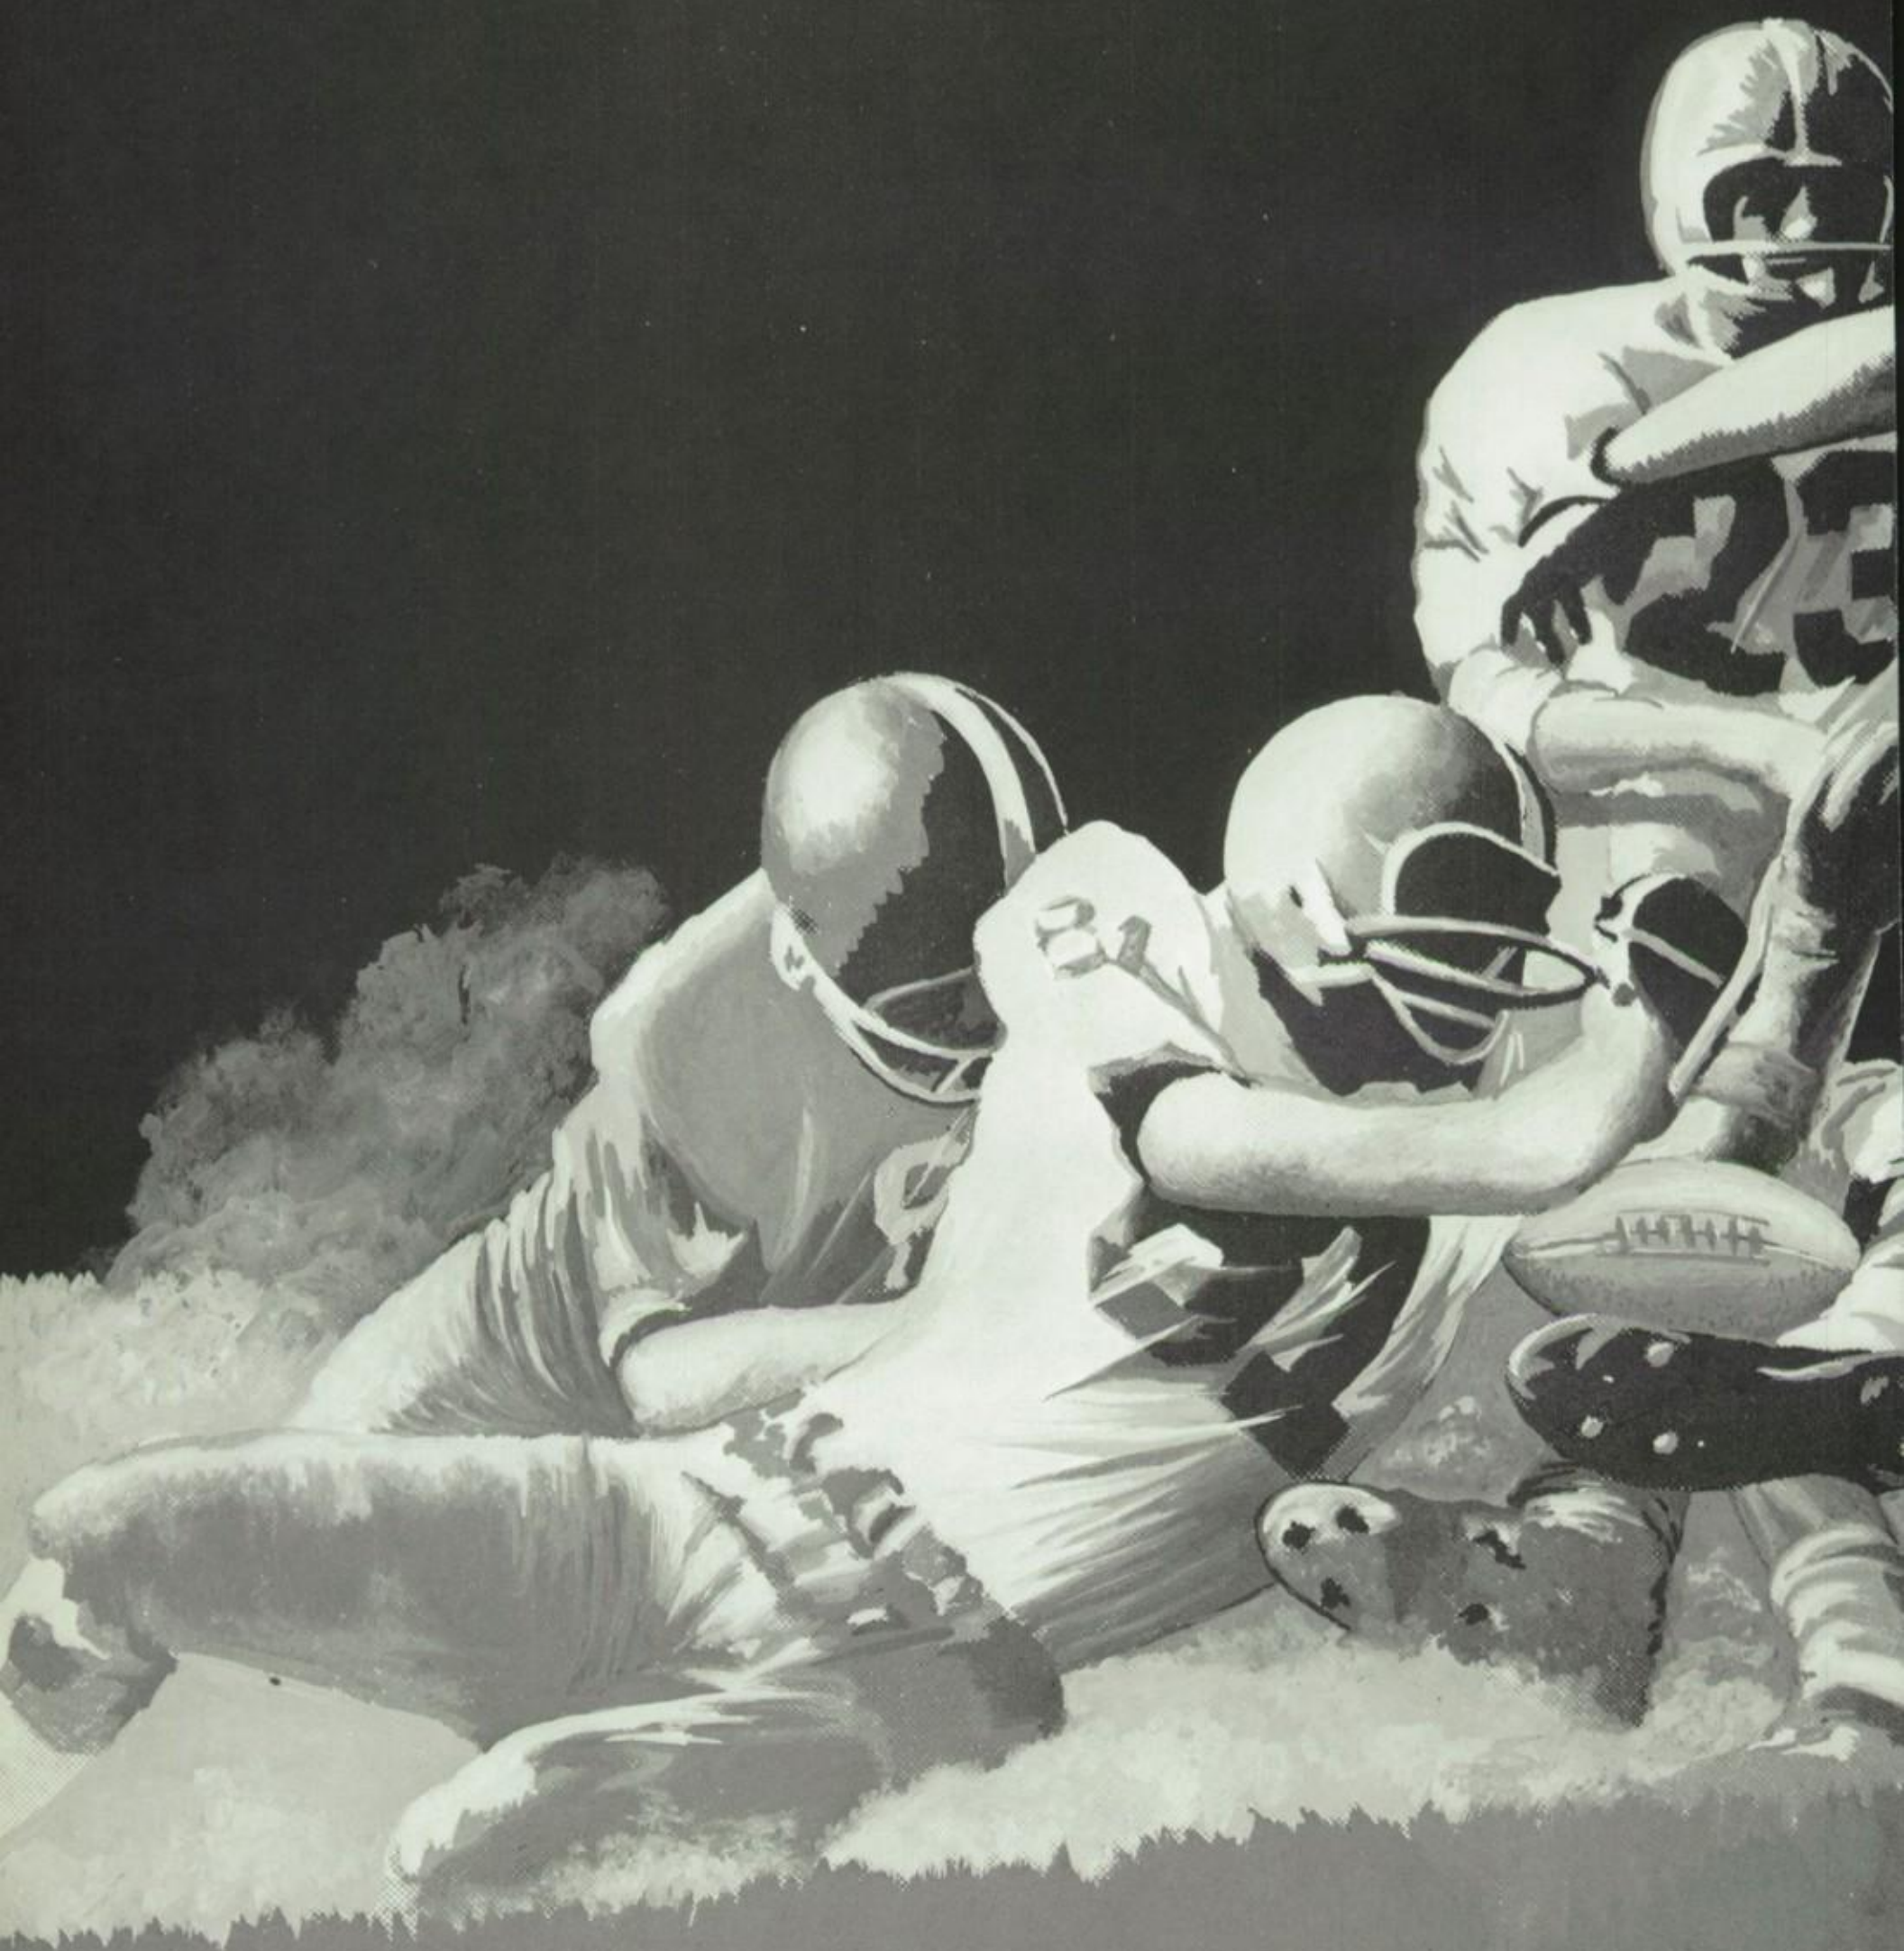

We should leave Holy Cross not as an end, but as a beginning. Our education is not finished, it has just begun. Many of us will succeed, and few will not. Let us not fail, for if we fail, our training at Holy Cross has failed. We are the young, it is our choice whether we give to society or live as its parasite.

Perry Criscitelli
